My Pen Speaks

The year is 2137, over 160 years ago the "Great War" was fought in Europe. The Western Hemisphere stayed out of the conflict, as much as possible, using the slogan: "The East for the East ... The West for the West." For all this time the USA did not go past 30 degrees or 175 degrees latitude. Until the aerosubmarine, "Coldwater" in command of Lieutenant Jefferson Turck is blown past the 30 in a raging storm. Damaged, the ship landed in Europe only to find that it was not the enemy that was expected but something entirely different. Originally published in 1915 as "Beyond 30."

Van Horne has been struggling with an increasing case of Agoraphobia for about the past ten years. This mental affliction makes him powerless to leave his current surroundings of the street his apartment is situated. His doctor has tried many types of medication with zero effect to break him from his self-imposed prison. The impact of his mental illness prevents Jack from finishing the final book of his space fantasy series, which has increased the psychological strain on his well being. Jack's editor believes he is just suffering from writer's on an afternoon voyage through the cosmos. You help with experiments and learn some of the processes that go into making up scientific hypotheses on relativity, the speed of light and other light matters. Some humor is interjected to soften the dryness of the subject matter. Delightful illustrations will welcome you along for the fun. Come along for the ride and begin your adventure into light science. Find out why some ideas from days past are no longer considered correct and how that changes the way we will all look at the science of the stars in the future.

terms of self discovery, self fulfillment, and self determination. It is a presentation of the influences that have occurred and shaped and on occasion misshaped this life. My Pen and I depicts the feminine through the character, through interpersonal interactions and with nature as the matriarchal in a continual experience of lesson, joy, abandonment, and success. It will capture the readers with the story of risk and plight, literally fire and fish and instil within them a sense of the unreality in life's realities.

Hello, my name is Stuart Hardy-Taylor and I am a recovering alcoholic/addict whom has been saved by the grace of God. Thrown into a life of abuse, drink, drugs and underage sex, which would haunt every day of my life. Through the things I suffered as a child, I used substances to escape the restless taunting in my head from my past. Addiction cost my family, home, job, and almost life and nothing in this world could stop my drinking or taking drugs, until one day in my brokenness I cried out to God and shouted "Please God help me I'm killing myself, I'm dying, can't you stop me drinking for just one day please?" He answered me and told me to go to a soup kitchen at the church up the road to see an old friend who had turned to God some years before. These 50 poems recount my journey from addiction to recovery. I pray in faith and hope that these poems will touch hearts and give someone somewhere the hope to reach out in faith that God will answer and transform their lives as he has done to mine.

File Type PDF Power In My Pen: A Snippet Of The Life Of Ida B Wells

Williamsji Maveli's poetic analysis is a deep expression of the noblest human emotions: of love and sympathy, of awareness of the infinite value of life, of the realizations of the eternal truth through the strokes of individual talents of creativity. Poetry focuses on the expression of feelings and ideas by the use of distinctive style and rhythm. Imagination is the ability of the mind to be creative or resourceful and be active without worries; every word has its own meaning, detached from the actual word it's described by. Poetry achieves a different level of understanding by allowing us to really experience life through the emotions and experiences of others; it is a blend of imagination and truth. Poetry is the art of apprehending and interpreting Patrice Watley-Williams' focus on paying it forward. We often think that the only ones that need us are the less fortunate. This is far from the truth. With success comes negativity and hardship, which can turn the triumph to loneliness and often misery. The poet welcomes the reader to share the joys as well as the hardships of her life, to learn to love and embrace the trials as well as successes, and to realize that no matter how dark things may seem, we are never alone in our experiences. *"It is a very difficult thing for a dedicated philosophy student to commend poetry because Philosophers tends to strip life naked in search of truth. Poets, on the other hand have a different approach, they unfold truth in the most soothing way without conceiving the impact entailed. Sylvia's unique perspective intensely represents the meditative nostalgia required to embrace the challenges of impending elements. Sylvia is multitalented, but her poetic visions are vivid and unparalleled. It remains without doubts that her contribution would be invaluable to both the contemporary and progeny. For an art so authentic escapes the slumber of a talent--pure and still latent, like the smell of a strong fresh coffee at dawn has always been here and nigh.
