Relationships between peace, politics and religion are often controversial, and problematic. Religion is a core source of identity for billions of people around the world and it is hardly surprising that

sometimes it

becomes involved in conflicts. At the same time, we can see

religion involved not only in conflict. It is resolution, peace-

peacebuilding.

Religious involvement
is often necessary to try to end hatred and differences, frequently central to political conflicts especially,
but not only, in the Global South.

Evidence shows that religious leaders and organisations can play constructive roles in helping to end violence, and in some cases, build peace via early warnings of conflict, good offices once conflict has erupted, as well as advocacy, mediation and reconciliation. The chapters of this book highlight that religion can

The primary objective of this book is to understand the nature of the Boko Haram insurgency in northeast Nigeria.

Boko Haram's goal of an Islamic Caliphate, starting in the Borno State in the North East that will eventually of the modern state

the West. The central theme of this volume
examines the

relationship between the failure of the state-

Nigeria and the insurgency. At the heart of the Boko Haram phenomenon is a country racked with cleavages, making it hard for Nigeria to cohere as a modern state. Part I introduces this theme and places the Boko Haram insurgency in a historical context.

There are, however,

overlook the roles that women play in violent

as perpetrators,
mitigators, and

Women fuel
