Google Home is a revolutionary voice enabled wireless speaker that has been developed by Google. It was originally announced in May 2016 at the I/O conference. It is the first time Google is going into the smart speaker market and it will accommodate the Google Assistant feature. This will operate alongside Allo and Duo. This product bears similarity to Amazon Echo which makes it a direct competitor in that industry. Currently it is scheduled to be released in 2016 but there has been no specified release date.

Since the internet speeds went above the 500kbps mark, the number of things people can do with their interconnected devices skyrocketed. Automated homes, connected cars, and internet enabled TVs. The latter is what threatens to revolutionize the entertainment world as we know it, do away with cable TV and abolish the need for expensive blue-ray players. Even though smart TVs are so lucrative, most people find them either too costly, or limiting. The alternative would be going for a TV with an HDMI port, a USB port and purchasing a dongle to bring in the power of internet TV. Chromecast is one of the best and cheapest such tools in the market.
