Originally
published in London in 1727,
The Compleat
Housewife was the first cookbook
printed in the United States.
William Parks, a
Virginia printer,
printed and sold
the cookbook

believing there would be a strong market for it among Virginia housewives who wanted to keep up with the latest London fashions—the book was a best-seller there. Parks did make some attempt to Americanize it,

deleting certain recipes “the ingredients or material for which are not to be had in this country,” but for the most part, the book was not adjusted to American

kitchens. Even so, it became the first cookery best seller in the New World, and Parks's major book publication. Smith described her book on the title page as "Being a collection of several hundred approved receipts,

in cookery, pastry,
confectionery,
preserving,
pickles, cakes,
creams, jellies,
made wines,
cordials. And also bills of fare for every month of the year. To which is added, a

The recipes are easy to

from 50 recipes
for pickling
everything from nasturtium buds
to pigeons to “lifting a swan,
