Dropshipping is a method of retail fulfillment where stores do not actually stock their products. When someone buys a product, the store buys it from another party and then ships it to the customer directly. The merchant neither handles nor sees the product. Dropshipping is different from the conventional retail model in that, in dropshipping the seller does not own an inventory. He or she purchases an order from a third party. The dropshipping model, like everything else, has drawbacks and benefits. You need less capital: this is arguably the biggest advantage. You do not need thousands of dollars to start an ecommerce store. Conventional retailers need to have a huge amount of capital to build their inventory. In dropshipping, you only purchase a product once a customer has placed an order and made the payment. An initial inventory investment is not needed. Easy to start: an ecommerce business becomes much easier to run when you do not handle physical products. You will not worry about a warehouse, packing and reading... Dropshipping is an e-commerce business model that differs from the conventional way of doing e-commerce in that you do not physically handle the products you sell, nor do you stockpile the products that you offer for sale. You set up your e-commerce shop online through your own website or using platforms such as Shopify, Amazon or eBay. You offer certain products to your clients that are available from reliable wholesale suppliers and manufacturers that offer the products in your chosen niche. Once your client places the order with you, the chain reaction starts. You in turn place an order with your supplier. Your supplier charges you for the product at a previously arranged price and then ships the product directly to your client. Depending on your niche products, your suppliers can be anywhere on earth. There is no limitations of where your suppliers are located; this works for sensitive products as well as the timeframe from manufacture to delivery to client is shortened as inventory is not sitting on a shelf in the hopes of it being sold before expiry date. You are the captain of your own ship and you need to make an informed decision to start up your business. This is why this book sets out to take you as a beginner through the basics step-by-step to enable you to calmly and logically create your business. Your aim is success which you will achieve with the guidance given and starting on the right foot despite all the doomsday predictions of the nay-sayers who give unwanted bad advice. Perhaps the most essential advantage to dropshipping is that it's possible to launch an e-commerce store without the need to invest thousands of dollars in inventory to start with. Customarily, merchants have had to tie up vast amounts of capital when acquiring stock. But, this is unnecessary if you use dropshipping. businesses expenses can be quite small. Many successful dropshipping companies are run from home offices with a single computer for less than $100 per month. As your business grows, it's likely these expenses will increase, but nonetheless, they will still be low when compared to traditional brick-and-mortar companies. Dropshipping businesses can be run from almost anywhere as long as you have an internet connection. This is vital to allow communication with your suppliers and your customers, both quickly and efficiently. Many successful online stores are run by people when they live outside of their home country, too. Because there is no need to pre-purchase any items you sell, you can offer a broader array of products to potential customers. So, if your supplier stocks a certain product, you can list it for sale in your online store, or on the platform you use, at no additional cost. With conventional business types, if you have orders for three times as much business, it is likely you'll need to perform three times as much work. With the leveraging of dropshipping suppliers, the majority of the work in processing additional orders is borne by your suppliers. This allows you to expand your business with fewer growing pains. Sales growth always brings some extra work. In most cases, this is primarily related to customer service. Companies that exploit dropshipping as a necessity, scale exceptionally well, especially when compared to conventional e-commerce businesses. All of these benefits make dropshipping an advantageous and efficient model to both new and established merchants, alike. Regrettably, dropshipping isn't always a bed of roses, though.
