This dictionary deals with the little words which everyone uses every day without even noticing them and which are so liable to escape the grasp of a speaker of

another
language -
clipped words,
obtained by
back-clipping or apocope (the
dropping of one
or more final syllables), by
front-clipping or aphesis (the

or more final syllables), by the combination of these two processes and sometimes further transformed, especially in slang, by the addition of a new ending. The

Read Free English For The Auto Le Industry

aim is not of course merely to list all these words and say from which longer words they were obtained; an attempt is made here to retrace the history of each of them, its

stylistic,
semantic and
often morphological evolution, to illustrate this with authentic
and often
pungent or
humorous
quotations and also to show

how each can be translated into the other language.

Indeed this is an English-French bilingual dictionary, whose aim is to translate clipped words according to principles of historical and register fidelity which bilingual dictionaries do not ordinarily set for this type of headword. Thus, clipped words will be shown to have meaning precisely

because they are clipped; consequently, this meaning must be preserved and conveyed in translation. This dictionary thus aims at being different from traditional
