This text addresses the terminology gap between enterprise network planners and telecommunications engineers, who must understand the transport requirements of storage networks in order to implement distributed storage networks. It comprehensively provides IT managers, planners and telecommunications professionals with the information they need in order to choose the technologies best suited for their particular environment.

Regarding assessment, the contributions reflect major changes in the marking of examinations in Hong Kong, whereby all examinations from 2012 onwards are marked onscreen, to quality control issues in the administration of China ' s College English Test, which is taken by over 10 million candidates every year.

The tests will help familiarise students with the format and requirements of the Reading and Writing/Listening and Speaking papers. Most books on teaching ask teachers to be inspirational, to operate at 100 miles an hour with creativity oozing out of every pore. Dominic Salles says that's unsustainable. But you can get better results using some simple practices taken from the myriad of educational research on classroom practices. It isn't a guide to all the extra stuff you should do to become cool and awesome. It's a guide that will get you to forget about teaching and think about learning; another way of saying, it's a guide that will get you to stop stressing about what you do, and get the students to work harder and smarter and do more. Dominic Salles believes that every teacher can be slightly awesome. And here he shows you how.
