Nonprofit leadership is messy Nonprofits leaders are optimistic by nature. They believe with time, energy, smarts, strategy and sheer will, they can change the world. But as staff or board leader, you know nonprofits present unique challenges. Too many cooks, not enough money, an abundance of passion. It's enough to make you feel overwhelmed and alone. The people you help need you to be successful. But there are so many obstacles: a micromanaging board that doesn't understand its true role; insufficient fundraising and donors who make unreasonable demands; unclear and inconsistent messaging and marketing; a leader who's a star in her sector but a difficult boss... And yet, many nonprofits do thrive. Joan Garry's Guide to Nonprofit Leadership will show you how to do just that. Funny, honest, intensely actionable, and based on her decades of experience, this is the book Joan Garry wishes she had when she led GLAAD out of a financial crisis in 1997. Joan will teach you how to: Build a powerhouse board Create an impressive and sustainable fundraising program Become seen as a 'workplace of choice' Be a compelling public face of your nonprofit This book will renew your passion for your mission and organization, and help you make a bigger difference in the world.

The #1 New York Times Bestseller Jessica reveals for the first time her inner monologue and most intimate struggles. Guided by the journals she's kept since age fifteen, and brimming with her unique humor and down-to-earth humanity, Open Book is as inspiring as it is entertaining. This was supposed to be a very different book. Five years ago, Jessica Simpson was approached to write a motivational guide to living your best life. She walked away from the offer, and nobody understood why. The truth is that she didn't want to lie. Jessica couldn't be authentic with her readers if she wasn't fully honest with herself first. Now America's Sweetheart, preacher's daughter, pop phenomenon, reality tv pioneer, and the billion-dollar fashion mogul invites readers on a remarkable journey, examining a life that blessed her with the compassion to help others, but also burdened her with an almost crippling need to please. Open Book is Jessica Simpson using her voice, heart, soul, and humor to share things she's never shared before. First celebrated for her voice, she became one of the most talked-about women in the world, whether for music and fashion, her relationship struggles, or as a walking blonde joke. But now, instead of being talked about, Jessica is doing the talking. Her book shares the wisdom and inspirations she's learned and shows the real woman behind all the pop-culture clichés – “chicken or fish,” “Daisy Duke,” “football jinx,” “mom jeans,” “sexual napalm...” and more. Open Book is an opportunity to laugh and cry with a close friend, one that will inspire you to live your best, most authentic life, now that she is finally living hers.

Financial Strategy for Public Managers

A Modern Guide to the Roaring Twenties

The Jewish community in India comprises a tiny but important part of the population. There are around five thousand Jews and five Jewish communities in India, but they are fast diminishing in number. Intrigued by the common thread that binds the Indian Jews as a whole despite their living in different parts of the country, Esther David explores the lifestyle and cuisine of the Jews in every region, from the Bene Israelis of western India to the Bene Menashes of the Northeast, the Bene Ephraims of Andhra Pradesh, the Baghdadi Jews of Kolkata and the Kochi Jews. She discovers that while they all follow the strict Jewish dietary laws, they have also adapted to the local cuisine. Some have even turned vegetarian! Extensively researched, with heartwarming anecdotes and mouthwatering recipes, Bene Appetit offers a holistic portrait of a little-known community.

Financial Strategy for Public Managers is a new generation textbook for financial management in the public sector. It offers a thorough, applied, and concise introduction to the essential financial concepts and analytical tools that today's effective public servants need to know. It starts "at the beginning" and assumes no prior knowledge or experience in financial management. Throughout the text, Kioko and Marlowe emphasize how financial information can and should inform every aspect of public sector strategy, from routine procurement decisions to budget preparation to program design to major new policy initiatives. They draw upon dozens of real-world examples, cases, and applied problems to bring that relationship between information and strategy to life. Unlike other public financial management texts, the authors also integrate foundational principles across the government, non-profit, and "hybrid/for-benefit" sectors. Coverage includes basic principles of accounting and financial reporting, preparing and analyzing financial statements, cost analysis, and the process and politics of budget preparation. The text also includes several large case studies appropriate for class discussion and/or graded assignments.

DSP for In-Vehicle and Mobile Systems is focused on digital signal processing strategies for improving information and command and control, and communications for in-vehicle environments. It is expected that the next generation of in-vehicle interfaces will incorporate speech, video/image, and wireless communication modalities to provide more comfortable and safer driving ambiance. It is also expected that vehicles will become "smarter" and provide a level of wireless information of resources regarding road, weather, traffic, and other information that drivers may need immediately or request automatically while driving on the road. The format of this work centers on three themes: in-vehicle corpora, speech recognition/communication with emphasis on car environments, and digital signal processing for mobile platforms involving noise suppression, signal processing, and alternative communication scenarios that can be employed for in-vehicle applications. DSP for In-Vehicle and Mobile Systems is appropriate for researchers and professionals working in signal processing technologies, next generation vehicle design and networked-communications.

Furse-Roberts has written a timely reminder that Christianity has long been an integral component of Australia's vibrant secular democracy.' - Rev Peter Kurti, Centre for Independent Studies. Nearly four years after an errant tackle left him paralyzed below the waist, the inspiring comeback story of how former Pittsburgh Steeler Ryan Shazier recovered to walk again. As an All-American at Ohio State and All-Pro linebacker for the Pittsburgh Steelers, Ryan Shazier was living his best life while excelling at the game he loves, a game that has given him so much. But then Ryan was forced to redefine success. Suddenly, it was no longer measured by tackles or sacks, but by purpose and faith. WALKING MIRACLE is the story of this new definition of success, following the arc from December 4, 2017, when Shazier was injured playing the Cincinnati Bengals, to his retirement. For three years, Shazier doggedly pursued a return to professional football. He took small wins as “first downs” on the drive to return to the field: moving his toes, walking, dancing at his wedding, and ultimately running and returning to the team. What Shazier didn’t realize is that along the way, he was preparing himself for another purpose—that of father and husband, philanthropist, and football analyst. The journey was preparing him not for a renewed life as a middle linebacker, but a renewed life after the game. Here we see Shazier overcome childhood alopecia, which caused a great deal of emotional pain, and scoliosis, which nearly robbed him of his dreams of playing college and professional football. We gain insights into legendary coaches Urban Meyer and Mike Tomlin. And we see him star on the field. Shazier was one of the best defensive players in Steeler history—a history full of great defensive stars. WALKING MIRACLE—the message on a bracelet given to him by his godmother—is the story of Ryan’s comeback, but it’s also a book of life’s lessons, challenges, and a love letter to the power of positive thinking.

The authoritative biography of Henrietta Szold, founder of Hadassah, introduces a new generation to a remarkable leader who fought for women’s rights and the poor. Born in Baltimore in 1860, Henrietta Szold was driven from a young age by the mission captured in the concept of tikkun olam, “repair of the world.” Herself the child of immigrants, she established a night school, open to all faiths, to teach English to Russian Jews in her hometown. She became the first woman to study at the Jewish Theological Seminary, and was the first editor for the Jewish Publication Society. In 1912 she founded Hadassah, the international women’s organization dedicated to humanitarian work and community building. A passionate Zionist, Szold was troubled by the Jewish–Arab conflict in Palestine, to which she sought a peaceful and equitable solution for all. Noted Israeli historian Dvora Hachohen captures the dramatic life of this remarkable woman. Long before anyone had heard of intersectionality, Szold maintained that her many political commitments were inseparable. She fought relentlessly for women’s place in Judaism and for health and educational networks in Mandate Palestine. As a global citizen, she championed American pacifism. Hachohen also offers a penetrating look into Szold’s personal world, revealing for the first time the psychogenic blindness that afflicted her as the result of a harrowing breakup with a famous Talmudic scholar. Based on letters and personal diaries, many previously unpublished, as well as thousands of archival documents scattered across three continents, To Repair a Broken World provides a wide-ranging portrait of a woman who devoted herself to helping the disadvantaged and building a future free of need.

"A new novel from the author of Oleander Girl, a novel in stories, built around crucial moments in the lives of 3 generations of women in an Indian/Indian-American Family"--
Monsignor Hilary C. Franco, advisor to the Permanent Observer Mission of the Holy See to the United Nations, has led a remarkable life in the Catholic faith. This rich memoir chronicles his amazing journey as a self-described "poor country priest" who forged deep and meaningful friendships with many of the most important religious figures in the Catholic Church. He not only worked closely with Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen and counted Mother Teresa as a friend, but also has had the honor of working with six papal leaders:

Pope John XXIII, Pope Paul VI, Pope John Paul II, Pope Benedict XVI, and the current Pope Francis. What emerges is a history of modern Catholicism and faith as seen through the eyes of a man who was a personal witness to events that continue to shape the world. Hilary Franco, an Italian-American who grew up in the Bronx in the '30s and '40s, graduated from the Pontifical Roman Seminary with a degree in Biblical Theology--later earning degrees in sociology (Fordham) and Canon Law (Lateran University, Rome)--and ordained a priest at the age of 22. Upon returning from Rome during the reign of Pope Pius XII, he served in several parishes. The ordinary course of Father Franco's life changed dramatically when he asked his spiritual hero, the popular author and television star Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen, if they could meet so he could ask him about his books. To Father Franco's surprise (and the disbelief of his superiors), he got his meeting, and they quickly became friends. Impressed with his inquisitive mind, fluency in Italian and Latin, and Scripture training, Bishop Sheen asked Father Franco to assist him at the National Office of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, which he did for eight years (1959-1967). A few months after Pius's death in 1963, the newly elected Pope, John XXIII, announced his intention to convene an ecumenical council. The two men (with thousands of others) were thrown into the preparatory work for the Second Vatican Council (1962-1965). Father Franco would soon be in daily contact with men like Giovanni Battista Montini, Albino Luciani, Karol Wojtyla, and Joseph Ratzinger--respectively, the future Popes Paul VI, John Paul I, John Paul II and Benedict XVI--as well as with notable Council periti ("experts") Karl Rahner and Hans K ng. Franco had a front-row seat to history as Paul VI led the Council in the spirit of his predecessor and then steered the Church through the social, political, and theological upheavals of the '60s and '70s. Whether conveying to Paul VI President Johnson's desire that the Pontiff host Vietnam peace talks (and the Pontiff's immediate, favorable response to a grateful president) or surviving the psychic trauma of Red Brigade terrorism, Franco has never been far from the action. Among his most searing memories is that of hearing the collective hush of the crowd below his Vatican office after the attempt on the life of John Paul II. Father Franco's life of service always has him traveling the globe, never confining him to a desk isolated from the common people he was determined from his youth to help. Shortly after the close of the Council, the Vatican called Father Franco to serve in its Diplomatic Corps at the Apostolic Delegation in Washington D.C., and then in the Prefecture of the Economic Affairs of the Holy See in the Vatican. During the decades that he was in charge of the English Desk of the Vatican Congregation (1970-1994), Father Franco was named Monsignor (1971) and then Prelate (1981). To this day, Monsignor Franco continues to serve the Church as Adviser for the Permanent Observer Mission of the Holy See to the United Nations. Having the personal privilege of knowing several people later canonized Saints--including John XXIII, John Paul II, and Mother Teresa of Calcutta--Monsignor Franco humbly but effectively walks the corridors of spiritual power in New York, the United States and Rome.
