The command of
military forces
in combat is unlike any other field of human endeavor.
If war is the ultimate form
of human
competition,
then the commander is
the ultimate

competitor. The commander
operates in an environment of
chance,
uncertainty,
and chaos, in which the
stakes are,
quite literally, life and death. He or she contends

against an adversary who is using every means, fair or foul, to foil
his plans and bring about his defeat. The commander is
ultimately responsible for every variable
that factors

into military
success or fail ure-training,
logistics,
morale,
equipment,
planning, and execution. The commander reaps
the lion's share of plaudits in victory, but also must accept the blame in

defeat,
warranted or
not. Very often the line that separates fame
and ignominy is slender indeed.

difficult to
