Science, engineering, and technology permeate nearly every facet of modern life and hold the key to solving many of humanity's most pressing current and future challenges. The United States' position in the global economy is declining, in part because U.S. workers lack fundamental approach to K-12

science education that will capture students'
interest and provide them with the necessary foundational knowledge in the field. A Framework for K-12 Science Education outlines a broad set of expectations for students in science and engineering in grades K-12. These expectations will

File Type PDF

Grade 12

Mathematics

Paper 2

September 2010

inform the development of new standards for K-12 science education and, subsequently, revisions to curriculum, instruction, assessment, and professional development for educators. This book identifies three dimensions that convey the core ideas and practices around which science and engineering education in these grades should be built. These three dimensions are:

crosscutting concepts that unify the study of science through their common application across science and engineering; scientific and engineering

practices; and

disciplinary core ideas

in the physical

sciences, life sciences,

sciences and for

engineering,

technology, and the

applications of science. The overarching goal is for

Paper 2

all high school graduates to have sufficient knowledge of science and engineering to engage in public discussions on science-related issues, be careful consumers of scientific and technical information, and enter the careers of their choice. A

Volume 2

Paper 2
September 2010

This book originated

in a policy analysis

class at Michigan

taught during 2010.

Using Professor

Tatto's unique

approach to teaching

policy analysis, the

professor and

students agreed to construct a class that represented a reflective and grounded experience in the policy analysis of a current and relevant issue with global ramifications; we began exploring policies that were developed at the global level and that were implemented locally. We

Grade 12

Mathematics

Paper 2

September 2018

investigated the surge of globally developed standards and regulations in an effort to improve education. Our goal was to learn cross-nationally about policies that seek to reform curriculum and instruction under efficiency and global competitiveness arguments, such as

and by resource constraints. We did effectiveness. We investigated the factors that seemed to interfere with
