For those who don't want their kids to go trick or treating in the streets, their kids can still do this by going to the mall. This is because malls encourage their tenants to provide candies and other goodies for shoppers. There are also costume parades and contests which they can watch and maybe win a few prizes. Is it the chance to magically transform yourself into your favorite hero or villain? Of course, costumes are fun for both kids and adults alike. I am well past trick-or-treating age; in fact, so are my children, but I still love to get all gussied up in a real costume every year. Even if I do not have a party to go to, it is still awesome fun to become someone else for a night and lurk behind bushes or in a porch for all the goblins to come hunting their treats. "Halloween is lots of fun! But it can also be a bit scary, especially for younger kids. In this book, readers are invited to a Halloween costume party. It shows just what to expect in a similar scenario. Achievable language and content allow new readers to navigate the book independently and understand what it means to go to a Halloween party. A close text to picture correlation supports reading comprehension while the full-color photographs show readers relatable examples of scenes at a costume party"--
