If you really want to make impression in a Job Interview and still be yourself, then keep reading this. Most interviewers now look beyond a person's technical knowledge when determining who is the right candidate for the job. There is a smart way of making interviewers stare at you with interest as soon as you start telling them about your background and work experience. However, most people fail to nail this. They quote verbatim what's on their CV. The true is, if you're not creative in presenting who you are to your interviewers, you won't stand the chance of making it as a shortlisted applicant. Interviewers most of the time get bored because they keep hearing the same answers from interviewees on why they should be chosen over other applicants. The fact is, no matter how qualified you are, the answer you your response. Be human. We give a breakdown of different interview questions, scenarios, circumstances, and settings. The immediate environment and your interviewer determine the preparation going into the interview and your chances of success. For example, competency-based questions are different from brain teasers, which differ from traditional, web, or communication questions. Moreover, one-on-one questions or settings differ from a panel interview. We evaluate all these aspects with a focus on the type of questions you are likely to face, and the most thought-out, universal, and likely-to-impress answers. Given this backdrop, if you want an authoritative, insightful, and predictive guide to interviewing, and if you "need" to succeed by "wowing" or "acing" interviews, you really need to read on! Here is what you are going to discover inside: Learn the most basic question you need to ask How to answer interview questions from the panel How to answer competency questions How to answer brain teaser question Traditional questions How to answer open based questions How to answer
