inquiry, the author (re)considers the interrelated concepts, contexts and complex conversations with colleagues, students and others that have shaped his approach to curriculum, pedagogy and research for fifteen years or more.

Emphasising the complexity of

designing curricula
and pedagogies that engage, in a
respectful and
generative way, with the natural and cultural history of the Australian continent,
the author explicates
and enacts his
attempts to think differently about the
cultural, curricular and
pedagogical

understandings that inform the practices of Australian outdoor environmental educators. Outdoor environmental education in Australia has historically been influenced by imported universalist ideas, particularly from the USA and the UK. However, during the last two decades a growing number of researchers in this field have challenged the applicability of such taken-for-granted approaches and advocated the development of curricula and pedagogies informed by the unique biogeographical and cultural histories of the locations in which

experiences take place. As this book demonstrates, Alistair Stewart is prominent among the vanguard
of Australian outdoor environmental educators who have led such advocacy by combining practical
experience with
theoretical rigour.

Bernard Trainor's

celebrates the wild
and elemental
landscapes of California, from the craggy coasts of Big

of Sonoma wine
country. His award-
winning work
combines an awareness of regional
context with materials, collaboration, and deep connection to the land. Beautifully photographed and documented with full-color plans, the projects in this survey of his recent work include a range of scale, from compact urban gardens to expansive rural sites. Trainor's regional, sustainable approach inspires wonder and respect for nature as it aims to preserve

and restore it.

This book showcases
current research into Indigenous and
minority placenames
in Australia and internationally. Many of the chapters in this volume originated as

that is being undertaken in Australia and in
countries such as

surrounding their conservation and use.

While interest in
rainforests and the movement for their conservation are often mistakenly portrayed as features of the last few decades, the debate over human usage of rainforests stretches well back into the nineteenth century. In the modern world, rainforests are

generally considered the most attractive of the ecosystems, being seen

as lush, vibrant,
immense, mysterious,
spiritual and romantic.

Rainforests hold a
