Reminiscent of Scheherazade and One Thousand and One Nights, Gianni Rodari's Telephone Tales is many stories within a story. Every night, a traveling father must finish a bedtime story in the time that a single coin will buy. One it's a carousel that adults cannot comprehend, but whose operator must be some sort of magician, the next, it's a filled with butter men who melt in the sunshine Awarded the Hans Christian Anderson Award in 1970, Gianni Rodari widely considered to be Italy's most important children's author of the 20th century. Newly re-illustrated by Italian Valerio Vidali? (The Forest)?, Telephone Tales? entertains, while questioning and imagining other worlds.

Olga the cloud's wonderful day comes to an end when, after being chased off the moon where she was trying to na has a terrible time finding the right place to make some rain.

A Step-by-Step Guide

This book provides a comprehensive overview of current arthroscopic techniques for the management of ankle joint disorders. An introductory section clearly and accessibly explains the anatomy in question, the portal placement and other ankle procedures, addressing both the articular and extra-articular compartments. All currently available minimally invasive surgical options and the management of various upper and lower lesions of the ankle are then described step by step, discussing the main issues concerning each of them and sharing useful tips and tricks. A closing chapter is devoted to rehabilitation, which greatly differs in patients treated with arthroscopic procedures and those undergoing open surgery. The volume is also supplemented by detailed videos for each technique and procedure, both outside on the cutaneous layer and inside the joint. The book offers an invaluable tool for orthopedic surgeons and fellows dealing with foot and ankle disorders who normally prefer to use open procedures and desire to complement their surgical options with arthroscopy, as well as for those surgeons already familiar with arthroscopic techniques who would like to broaden their knowledge of the field.

In 1524 Lorenzo Lotto (Venice, 1480 - Loreto, 1556), one of the greatest Italian artists of the Renaissance, painted the walls of a small oratory. The building, owned by Battista Suardi, the nobleman who had commissioned the frescoes, was situated in the garden of his country house at Trescore Balneario, a few miles from Bergamo. The encounter between the Venetian painter and his refined patron, in a year marked by obscure signs in the heavens and heretical stirrings, produced one of the century's most unusual cycles of paintings, not only from the artistic viewpoint but also from that of the complexity of its doctrinal underpinnings. The paintings of the great Venetian artist are thoroughly analyzed on the visual plane as well, by means of a lavish set of illustrations. A series of explanatory diagrams and close-up photographs, on a one-to-one scale, permit the reader to appreciate the high formal qualities of this cycle of paintings and to get to the heart of its beauty and meaning. In this volume the author, Francesca Cortesi Bosco, traces the dense web of religious and cultural motivations that lie behind Lotto's masterpiece, presenting a fascinating picture of the artistic life of the time and opening up completely new prospects for its interpretation. Ci troviamo immersi nel cuore del Mediterraneo in luoghi alla portata di tutti, lungo un percorso fatto a più riprese nel corso di cinque anni, da un velista-viaggiatore che un giorno decide di lasciare il proprio ormeggio che occupava da anni, per fare prua verso est regalandosi il tempo necessario per conoscere e assaporare appieno il fascino unico del Mediterraneo. «La decisione di lasciare un porto simpatico e sicuro della Liguria e di vagabondare per il Mediterraneo si è rivelata una scelta vincente, che ha rinvigorito la mia passione per la barca a vela. Anche perché sono convinto che il Mediterraneo è il più bel mare del mondo, un mare che non finisce mai di stupire.» Il libro non ha l'obiettivo di essere una guida nautica, bensì traccia svariate rotte interessanti, soprattutto tra le isole della Grecia e della Turchia, che sono descritte attraverso l'occhio curioso e indagatore di un giornalista-viaggiatore che ama farsi raccontare i posti da persone native del luogo e dai personaggi che popolano il mare, figure spesso atipiche, che attraverso il loro passato spiegano il loro presente e le loro aspettative. Il solitario Alain Capon, i vagabondi Jackie e David, lo scultore Skevos Vrontos, il padre dei marina turchi Hasan Kacmaz sono solo alcuni dei personaggi che animano le pagine di questo libro. «L'aspetto di gran lunga più importante di questo modo di andar per mare, al di là di immergersi nella bellezza e nelle peculiarità dei luoghi, al di là del piacere di navigare, è però un altro. Si tratta del sentirsi più aperti al rapporto con gli altri, di una particolare predisposizione ad incontrare persone con le quali vivere brevi ma intensi rapporti umani.» L'autore ci porta anche a conoscere i luoghi al di là del porto e del suo lungomare per inoltrarsi nel suo entroterra, salire su colline e montagne e godersi lo spettacolo dall'alto attraverso stupendi itinerari naturalistici. Lo spirito di questo velista curioso trova piena realizzazione anche in un importante apparato fotografico di 72 pagine, che traducono in colori e immagini i personaggi incontrati e i luoghi visitati. Questa non è un'impresa, ma semplicemente un gran bel viaggio per mare, che ha regalato momenti ed emozioni indimenticabili all'autore e al suo equipaggio.

"Paints a vibrant, tangible, and inviting world for preschool-aged readers." —Publishers Weekly Broom, vroom, beep! Maisy and Charley are in the city, and there are many things to get used to — noisy traffic, enormous buildings, and sidewalks so crowded they have to walk very slowly. Riding the escalator and elevator — and hanging on tight in the subway — are almost as much fun as exploring the giant toy store and eating pizza in a café. Even the playground is busy in the city!

A love story told in the form of an auction catalog. Auction catalogs can tell you a lot about a person -- their passions and vanities, peccadilloes and aesthetics; their flush years and lean. Think of the collections of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, Truman Capote, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. In Leanne Shapton's marvelously inventive and invented auction catalog, the 325 lots up for auction are what remain from the relationship between Lenore Doolan and Harold Morris (who aren't real people, but might as well be). Through photographs of the couple's personal effects -- the usual auction items (jewelry, fine art, and rare furniture) and the seemingly worthless (pajamas, Post-it notes, worn paperbacks) -- the story of a failed love affair vividly (and cleverly) emerges. From first meeting to final separation, the progress and rituals of intimacy are revealed through the couple's accumulated relics and memorabilia. And a love story, in all its tenderness and struggle, emerges from the evidence that has been left behind, laid out for us to appraise and appreciate. In an earlier work, Was She Pretty?, Shapton, a talented artist and illustrator, subtly explored the seemingly simple yet powerfully complicated nature of sexual jealousy. In Important Artifacts and Personal Property from the Collection of Lenore Doolan and Harold Morris—a very different yet equally original book—she invites us to contemplate what is truly valuable, and to consider the art we make of our private lives.
