Each class is worth 3 credits and the students should take 12 classes. It's a series of 12 books, one book for each subject. This book is a collection of best answers for the "Business Organization and Management" subject. This compendium is a collection of papers that were presented in the second International Conference on Marketing "MarkTech -2022" on the theme "Reimagining Global Marketing: Innovations Focused on the Digitalized World" organized by the Department of MBA, ITS Engineering College, Greater Noida, on January 22, 2022. This compendium aims to collate the ideas generated in the conference and bring them to the readers. The 5 D's of digital marketing, comprising Digital Devices, Digital Media, Digital Platforms, Digital Data and Digital Technology, can be used along with traditional marketing techniques. Most startups in India have adopted digital marketing with small capital investment and have contributed to the growth of the economy. The ongoing global COVID-19 pandemic has resulted in economic crisis throughout the world. However, despite challenges, the globe has come up with new innovations, like creation of anti-virus drugs in an expediated manner. This has helped companies in moving towards digital opportunities in all business sectors, including healthcare, education, banking etc. In fact, most of the Indian startups have also adopted digital marketing with minimum capital investment to survive and grow amid the changed business environment. Indeed, we have faced the crisis with exceptionally well human abilities and intellect. The success of your business would now be dependent on how well you adopt and implement the digital marketing strategies. The compendium is a collection of ten selected research papers by academicians and industry functionaries. It is compiled for reference of participants and other stake holders. Authors of the compendium have shared their research work from different areas from the field of marketing. A paper titled "A Literature Review on the role of Social Media Marketing in Consumer purchase intention", provided an insight into the role of social media marketing in consumer purchase intention. A study on "Digitalization Of Education System: A Paradigm Shift Into Service Sector In India", focused on how the teaching in technological scenario has become only way of reaching to the students at large. Another study, titled "An Exploratory Study on Post Covid Trends and Strategies in the Indian Banking Sector", discussed the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on the global and Indian banking and financial services industry. A study on "An Analysis of Motivational Factors in Penetration of Health Insurance" preference of customers towards selection of health insurance plan as well as Health Insurance Company. Research on "Exploring The Reasons of Failure of Startups In India: An Exploratory Analysis", discussed various reasons behind failures of startups and also recommended ways to improve startups' performance. A paper on "Recent Trends And Innovations - Banking Sector In India", analysed emerging trends in banking sector with an emphasis on digitization during COVID-19. A paper titled "An Analytical Study of The Purchase Determinants of Hatchback Car Buyers Of West Delhi - India", aimed at identifying and ascertaining the brand inclination and predisposition of consumers, regarding hatchback models of cars. A paper titled "Relationship between Customer Satisfaction & Retention based on Service Quality Attributes", proposed a relationship between customer satisfaction and retention in the service business based on service attribute performance. A study titled "Fueling Digital Entrepreneurship in India", listed ways to promote digital entrepreneurship in India like the government initiative of 'startup India'. A paper on the topic "A Literature Review of blockchain Technology Application by Government of India" highlighted current state of blockchain technology and its applications. We express our thanks and appreciate the efforts of the authors who have shared their thoughts to cover the theme of the Conference. The diversity of thoughts of authors have made this compendium a reservoir of knowledge and will make a major reference source for future researchers on the subject. We also express our sincere gratitude to the Management, Faculty, Staff, and Students of Department of MBA, ITS Engineering College for their support in organizing the conference and bringing out this Compendium. With best wishes, Editors

The Science of Service Systems intends to stimulate discussion and understanding by presenting theory-based research with actionable results. Most of the articles focus on formalizing the theoretical foundations for a science of service systems, examining a wide range of substantive issues and implementations related to service science from various perspectives. From the formal (ontologies, representation specifications, decision-making and maturity models) to the informal (analysis frameworks, design heuristics, anecdotal observations), these contributions provide a snapshot in time of the gradually emerging scientific understanding of service systems. The Science of Service Systems, along with its companion text, Service Systems Implementation, is designed to present multidisciplinary and multisectoral perspectives on the nature of service systems, on research and practice in service, and on the future directions to advance service science. These two volumes compose a collection of articles from those involved in the emerging area known as service science.

Whether it's a faulty memory, a tendency to multitask, or difficulty managing our time, every one of us has limitations conspiring to keep us from being organized. But, as organizational guru and former Google CIO Douglas C. Merrill points out, it isn't our fault. Our brains simply aren't designed to deal with the pressures and competing demands on our attention in today's fast-paced, information-saturated, digital world. What's more, he says, many of the ways in which our society is structured are outdated, imposing additional chaos that makes us feel stressed, scattered, and disorganized. But it doesn't have to be this way. Luckily, we have a myriad of amazing new digital tools and technologies at our fingertips to help us manage the strains on our brains and on our lives; the trick is knowing when and how to use them. This is why Merrill, who helped spearhead Google's effort to "organize the world's information," offers a wealth of tips and strategies for how to use these new tools to become more organized, efficient, and successful than ever. But if you're looking for traditional, rigid, one-size-fits-all strategies for organization, this isn't the book for you. Instead, Merrill draws on his intimate knowledge of how the brain works to help us develop fresh, innovative, and flexible systems of organization tailored to our individual goals, constraints, and lifestyles. From how to harness the amazing power of search, to how to get the most out of cloud computing, to techniques for filtering through the enormous avalanche of information that assaults us at every turn, to tips for minimizing distractions and better integrating work and life, Getting Organized in the Google Era is chock-full of practical, invaluable, and often counterintuitive advice for anyone who wants to be more organized and productive—and less stressed—in our 21st-century world.

Writing Your Dissertation in Fifteen Minutes a Day

The Melancholy MBA

Algorithmic Aspects in Information and Management

Expert writing advice from the editor of the Boston Globe best-seller, The Writer's Home Companion Dissertation writers need strong, practical advice, as well as someone to assure them that their struggles aren't unique. Joan Bolker, midwife to more than one hundred dissertations and co-founder of the Harvard Writing Center, offers invaluable suggestions for the graduate-student writer. Using positive reinforcement, she begins by reminding thesis writers that being able to devote themselves to a project that truly interests them can be a pleasurable adventure. She encourages them to pay close attention to their writing method in order to discover their individual work strategies that promote productivity; to stop feeling fearful that they may disappoint their advisors or family members; and to tailor their theses to their own writing style and personality needs. Using field-tested strategies she assists the student through the entire thesis-writing process, offering advice on choosing a topic and an advisor, on disciplining one's self to work at least fifteen minutes each day; setting short-term deadlines, on revising and defing the thesis, and on life and publication after the dissertation. Bolker makes writing the dissertation an enjoyable challenge.

The Effect of Collaborative Supply Chain on Customer Service

This volume constitutes the proceedings of the 14th International Conference on Algorithmic Aspects in Information and Management, AAIM 2020, held in Jinhua, China in August 2020. The 39 full papers and 17 short papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 76 submissions. The papers deal with emerging important algorithmic problems with a focus on the fundamental background, theoretical technology development, and real-world applications associated with information and management analysis, modeling and data mining. Special considerations are given to algorithmic research that was motivated by real-world applications.

A Chemistry background prepares you for much more than just a laboratory career. The broad science education, analytical thinking, research methods, and other skills learned are of value to a wide variety of types of employers, and essential for a plethora of types of positions. Those who are interested in chemistry tend to have some similar personality traits and characteristics. By understanding your own personal values and interests, you can make informed decisions about what career paths to explore, and identify positions that match your needs. By expanding your options for not only what you will do, but also the environment in which you will do it, you can vastly increase the available employment opportunities, and increase the likelihood of finding enjoyable and lucrative employment. Each chapter in this book provides background information on a nontraditional field, including typical tasks, education or training requirements, and personal characteristics that make for a successful career in that field. Each chapter also contains detailed profiles of several chemists working in that field. The reader gets a true sense of what these people do on a daily basis, what in their background prepared them to move into this field, and what skills, personality, and knowledge are required to make a success of a career in this new field. Advice for people interested in moving into the field, and predictions for the future of that career, are also included from each person profiled. Career fields profiled include communication, chemical information, patents, sales and marketing, business development, regulatory affairs, public policy, safety, human resources, computers, and several others. Taken together, the career descriptions and real case histories provide a complete picture of each nontraditional career path, as well as valuable advice about how career transitions can be planned and successfully achieved by any chemist.
