Peep is afraid of jumping off the curb, but with a little encouragement from his mother and sisters, he finally gives it a try.

I LOVE YOU YOU LOVE ME What is Love? Help children understand what love is by making it relatable to people, places, animals and nature with Poppetie Tootsie the Stick Peep Friend who loves to express love Meet Poppetie Tootsie the Stick Peep Friend. He is just a stick peep because children understand simple stick drawings & relate. In this story, "Poppetie Tootsie" expresses his LOVE FEELINGS to people, animals, nature... It is meant to help children get in touch, connect and understand their own feelings of LOVE. In addition, the pages are paired with one page Poppetie Tootsie expressing love, and then, on the next page, love being expressed in return. In this way, children can learn about RECIPROCITY! Also, the backgrounds are bright COLORS as this can help understand feelings and emotions. This book is mean to be used with parental supervision. Animal Peep-Through: My Jungle Friends

A collection of poems reflecting the experiences of a little English boy growing up in the early part of the twentieth century.

"Hoot the owl is excited to teach his younger sister all of his wisdom--but much to his annoyance, Peep is more interested in capturing the magic of the world around her than in listening to his advice"--

Blood on the Table brings to life the same powerful emotions and riveting excitement that Gerry Spence evoked from juries when the blood was real.

Blood on the Table is a blend of darkness, sex, and violence, with characters who are far from perfect and often are their own worst enemies. Spence takes the reader to savage—back country Wyoming, where an eleven-year-old boy must take the witness stand against a vicious prosecutor, corrupt police, and a prejudiced judge, to keep his family safe. At the Publisher's request, this title is being sold without Digital Rights Management Software (DRM) applied.

PEEP! A duckling attaches itself to the first thing it sees—a warmhearted young boy—in this charming book about friendship and change. The duckling follows the boy home, and soon the two are inseparable. But the duckling is growing up. And one day...QUACK! A flock of ducks flies by, and the boy realizes with a great pang of sorrow that his friend will have to return to live among its own kind. A heartwarming twist ending adds to the delight. Kevin Luthardt's deceptively simple story features charming, colorful illustrations along with humor, emotion, and limited text to tell a special tale of friendship, change, and the importance of learning to let go of something you love.

We had all walked too far from ourselves, and ended up children lost in the woods. A hand grabbed all of us at once, and it was the Being called Wesdeacon, pulling us toward each other. His home is empty now, but his art still covers the walls. The tracks of his passed steps have been smoothed over by rain, but the earth remembers. Above us now, vigilant constellations shift. The arms of trees flourish and curl, and form Wesdeacon's banner. They don't care much that he's not here, nor they seem to make a distinction between any of his incarnations when he was. He reminds us of what he learned; that the stories have always been false. There are no prophecies or destinies, and there never were any chosen ones. The dark will rush in at us sideways, and poison the rain, and set the fire to our homes. And when it does, it will find us already outside, not waiting for a chosen one, but having each chosen ourselves, and each other. This is our pact with Wesdeacon. Heart of fire, hands of stone.
