A hilarious read-aloud favorite about some foolish farm animals who decide to trade roles—and discover just how hard it is to do someone else's job, from award-winning author Lester L. Laminack and celebrated illustrator Henry Cole. The Tuckers' farm is a peaceful place where everyone has a job and no one complains. That is, until a hapless peacock falls off the back of a passing truck and stirs things up. Soon, customers are flocking to the farm to see what all the fuss is about. But the hens don't like the newcomer getting attention while they do all the hard work. When a wise old hound sees the problem, he helps orchestrate a job swap. What follows is the riotous tale of three hens who get in way over their feathered heads, and one very distressed peacock who just can't figure out how to lay an egg. Lester L. Laminack has created a comical look at envy, finding your strength, and what happens when we underestimate the value of others' work. Henry Cole's delightful illustrations heighten the story's humor and will have readers of all ages laughing out loud.

What Is a Palindrome?

Have you ever questioned your creation and identity? What are we really good for?! The black plastic button of this story knows the answer to this question and tries many different places and positions, but fits nowhere; finally, he is placed on a snowman, and yes he looks great there. Great as a button tells us there has been a purpose for our creation and what we like and how simple and ordinary we may be, we can look great if we find our own place. If parents need to cope with their children's self-esteem and self-confidence, then this is a story to read.

Practice makes perfect in this kick-butt fractured fairy tale. Why does this wolf think he can come to town and blow the three little pigs down? These three little pigs just aren't going to take it from that bully anymore! The first starts aikido lessons---he'll chop mincemeat out of that wolf! His brother learns a little jujitsu--he'll chop that guy to pieces! But when the wolf actually turns out these two pigs aren't quite ready after all. Good thing their sister has been training every day to master some moves that save the day. KIYA! Corey Rosen Schwartz serves up a fun combination of smart-aleck dialogue and tongue-in-cheek rhymes that'll have kids howling, and rising star Dan Santat's spunky illustrations are sure to pack a punch! When three scary witches decide they want the beautiful castles that three pigs have built for themselves, there are three ways to save the day. A parody of "The Night before Christmas," sees Santa visiting the castle of Miss Devel where a very excited Frankenstein monster friends live.
