markers of temporal value. Millions of viewers know James Brown as a sports commentator and former athlete. With ROLE OF A LIFETIME, James reveals a different side of his character. Brown rose from a middle-class home to earn a scholarship to Harvard and a chance at a professional sports career before moving on to broadcast journalism. Part memoir and part self-help, this book draws on James's lessons from his faith and life experiences to guide readers to find fulfillment and significance. He offers values and encouragement to others of all generations, assisting them in their search for meaning in navigating a world that increasingly promotes transient values, if any at all. His message that shortcuts and gimmicks

Sales is an art. Yes, there are sales procedures that can be applied precisely as a science and work precisely as a science, but sales is really an art. Sales is aesthetics. It is a beautiful painting. It is poetry in motion. It is finesse. It is quality. Sales is an art. Treat it as an art, and you will have the time of your life and the sales of a lifetime. If you treat it as just a tool, much like a carpenter works a hammer, then sure, you will get some sales-but you will miss the spark and the excitement, the thrill and the victory of consistent and superb sales in quantity and with quality. Sales is the X-factor that we are missing in life. Sales is everywhere, encompasses everything. Treat the subject of sales as an art form, and you will arrive quickly at the top echelons of your sales category. So be a master at sales. Be the sales artist. Be conscious of these words as you do your sales. Be conscious that you are creating something unique: you are creating a sales bond with a customer that will always be there whether your sale is a one-time product or a renewable product or service. Create a permanent bond. Create something that will stand the test of time . . . Try that in your sales journey. You will be

Secret Strategies for Lifetime Wealth Today

Award-winning former investigative reporter Basil Hero chronicles the life lessons humanity can learn from the twelve remaining Apollo astronauts who went to the Moon. In rare in-depth interviews, the twelve remaining lunar explorers, for the first time, talk at length about the real right stuff; the true source of courage, leadership, and the quiet patriotism that it took to risk their lives going to the moon. Hero begins each chapter with key life lessons that readers can gain from these honorable men whom he calls the Eagles. He describes how they mastered their emotions and learned to conquer their fears through techniques that can be used from the classroom to the boardroom. More importantly their voyages to the Moon led them to the most incredible discovery of all: our home planet and its precious place in the universe. They fear for Earth's future and offer sensible solutions to its mounting crises and the path to future space exploration. In The Mission Of A Lifetime, the Eagles share their wisdom and urge us to reframe our view of Earth to theirs: no identifiable nations, borders, or races; just Earthlings working together as a collective civilization.
