This book is devoted to the application of fractional calculus in economics to describe processes with memory and non-locality.

Fractional calculus is a branch of mathematics that studies the properties of differential and integral operators that are characterized by real or complex orders. Fractional calculus methods are powerful tools for describing the processes and systems with memory and nonlocality. Recently, fractional integro-differential equations have been used to describe a wide class of economical processes with power law memory and spatial nonlocality. Generalizations of basic economic concepts and notions the economic processes with memory were proposed. New mathematical models with continuous time are proposed to describe economic dynamics with long memory. This book

In this new book Zygmunt Bauman and Riccardo Mazzeo examine the contentious issue of the relation between literature (and the arts in general) and sociology (or, more generally, a branch of the humanities claiming scientific status). While many commentators see literature and sociology as radically different vocations, Bauman and Mazzeo argue that they are bound together by a common purpose and a shared subject matter.

Despite the many differences in terms of their methods and their ways of presenting their findings, novels and sociological texts are not at cross-purposes. Indeed, it is precisely their differences that make them at once indispensable to each other and mutually complementary. The writers of novels and of sociological texts may explore their world from different perspectives, seeking and producing different types of 'data', but their products bear the unmistakable marks of their shared origin. They feed each other and depend on each other in terms of their agenda, their discoveries and the contents of their messages. In a world characterized by the continuous search for new sensations and the fetishism of consumption, they bring fundamental existential questions back to the public agenda. Literature and sociology reveal the truth of the human condition only when they stay in one another's company, remaining attentive to each other's findings and engaged in a continuous dialogue. For only together can they rise to the challenging task of untangling and laying bare the complex intertwining of biography and history as well as of individual and society that totality we are constantly shaping while being shaped by it.

Beginning with 1953, entries for Motion pictures and filmstrips, Music and phonorecords form separate parts of the Library of Congress catalogue. Entries for Maps and atlases were issued separately 1953-1955. This well-received book is a market leader in the field of Microeconomics, and demonstrates how microeconomics can be used as a tool for both managerial and public-policy decision making. Clear writing style and graphs compliment the integrated use of current, real world industry examples throughout the book. It emphasizes relevance and application to cover modern topics—such as Game Theory and economics of information—and examples—such as United States v. Microsoft, pricing cellular phone service, and Internet auctions. Coverage of other up-to-date issues includes supply and demand, cost, consumer behavior, individual and market demand, market failure, and the role of government. For individuals with an interest in students with limited prior training in economics and quantitative methods. It assumes that students will have had mathematics training at least through pre-calculus and that they have had a course in elementary statistics. It also expects students to have had an undergraduate course in intermediate microeconomics. The book includes these features:

Vivíamos en la caverna de Platón, pendientes de los dispositivos digitales en cuyas pantallas contemplábamos las sombras que antiguamente se proyectaban en el muro. Vivíamos ensimismados en un mundo de ficción. Vivíamos anclados en el presente, pues ya no confiábamos en el futuro. Y en esto apareció el coronavirus. Nos impusieron el aislamiento social. Se decretó el cierre de fronteras entre los países. Nos concienciamos de que había que intensificar la higiene, utilizar mascarillas y guantes. Y proliferaron las fotos alarmantes de personas heroicas, protegidas por batas, gafas, mascarillas, guantes y botas, luchando contra algo que no podíamos ver y nos mataba. Después de siglos, una vez más, en todos los continentes, se establecieron las mismas medidas de resistencia contra el "enemigo invisible" de la historia, contra la nueva peste que es la COVID-19. Y comenzaron a circular comentarios, ensayos, artículos y anecdotarios que recordaban la peste negra pero, especialmente, los miedos y angustias sociales de un pasado que, aunque se creía aniquilado, todavía está presente en los escondrijos más recónditos de la mente y la existencia humanas. La ubicuidad absoluta de la globalización, que ya no se limita al intercambio o consumo de productos, propaga miedos e incertidumbres. Otra vez ha irrumpido el pasado, se ha paralizado el presente, hay desconfianza y negación del futuro. ¿Hemos llegado al final de la Historia? ¿Es tiempo de resignación y de nostalgia? Ante la ausencia de proyectos de futuro, ¿la solución es recuperar las utopías del pasado? ¿Son tiempos de retrotopía? Una semana después se produjeron los hechos que llevaron a Chile a una de sus crisis más notables y profundas de todo el siglo xx. A los pocos meses, se desencadenó la crisis del coronavirus que puso al mundo en vilo. ¿Fuimos capaces de prever durante esos días de coloquio lo que se nos venía encima? No de manera específica, pero sí fue nuestro objetivo tratar de visualizar el mañana, imaginar dónde estábamos y, en síntesis, hacer prospectiva. Entonces defendimos que tenemos la capacidad suficiente (e histórica) para, al presentar nuestras preocupaciones, romper con la clásica relación lineal de pasado-presente-futuro históricos; de causas y consecuencias encadenadas. Sostuvimos que el pasado se puede saltar el presente y que lo que pensamos en presente no necesariamente es lo que ocurrirá en el futuro. Nuestras reflexiones estuvieron en el lugar y el momento oportunos. No perdimos tiempo, sino que lo ganamos para imaginar el porvenir.

The result is a uniquely enjoyable volume that succeeds in illuminating the economic ideas and forces that shape our world.

It is suitable for use with students with and without A level mathematics. Check out preview content for Essentials of Economics here. Essentials of Economics brings the same captivating writing and innovative features of Krugman/Wells to the one-term economics course. Adapted by Kathryn Graddy, it is the ideal text for teaching basic economic principles, with enough real-world applications to help students see the applicability, but not so much detail as to overwhelm them. speed, the growing rift between Europe and America also is about how to deal politically with the countries of the Mediterranean-Muslim world. The house of Islam (Dar al Islam) was pivotal to the European path to the Renaissance and to the re-discovery of classic Greek philosophy. The Mediterranean policy of the European Union aims at a positive and co-operative relationship with the region. A successful integration of the Mediterranean

South would have tremendous and positive repercussions for regional and world peace. World-wide leading experts from the field of world systems analysis, economics, integration theory, political science, theology and area studies, agnostics, Christians, Jews and Muslims alike discuss the issue with European decision makers. The outcome is an interdisciplinary evaluation of this

God's covenant with Israel has been a central theme in understanding the Old Testament from ancient times, but in the last hundred years it has been a particularly prominent issue in critical biblical study.
In this book Professor Nicholson argues that, while in some important respects the position today regarding the covenant is much the same as it was for leading scholars a century ago, in other ways the intervening debate has made it possible to see far more clearly just how crucial the covenant idea was in the development of what is distinctive in the faith of Israel.

This text emphasizes a modern approach to microeconomics by integrating new topics in microeconomic theory and making them accessible to students. These topics include risk and uncertainty, assymetric information and game theory. Traditional topics are also treated in a clear way with solid applications. Modifications have been made to the text in this edition, these include new information on the theory of the firm, specifically the coverage of cost, and examples are included throughout the text to

In order to illuminate the complexity of these challenges, the volume is structured into three related key dimensions of museum practice - namely institutions, representations and users.
