una famiglia borghese e piuttosto disunita al luccicore dei bistrot parigini, dove Jacques coltiva una speciale inclinazione per il jazz; vivace è anche il suo amore per la natura, pur nell'inferno del denaro di cui non può fare a meno. Del resto, suo padre Georges è proprietario di una banca, e il tema dell'argent è uno dei fili conduttori del libro. Tormentato dal demone dell'oro, Jacques organizza un colpo di mano, e lì - nel sangue di un poliziotto ucciso durante la fuga -, vede chiudersi i propri giorni in qualità di uomo libero. Nei tre anni di reclusione nella prigione de «La Santé» prende gradatamente fisionomia una profonda ricerca di Dio. Il sigillo lo metterà l'arcivescovo di Parigi che nel 1987 aprirà la causa di beatificazione. Ma Dio non era già forse nelle stravaganze cercate e respinte da Jacques? E Dio non è forse nella sua serena accettazione della pena di morte, voluta soprattutto dal potentissimo Sindacato di Polizia francese? Ce lo lasciano intuire alcuni passi del libro - e questo è uno degli elementi che lo rendono affascinante, di irrefutabile apertura ai misteri dell'Oltre.

Mexican muralists. Their humorous exaggeration belies the more serious content of Botero's work—commentary on colonialism, political instability in Latin America, and the vernacular artistic traditions of the region, as well as European art history. Accompanying the artist's first American retrospective in over thirty years, The Baroque World of Fernando Botero is the most extensive study of his life and work to date. Drawn exclusively from Botero's private collection, the 100 works featured in this book, including previously unpublished paintings and drawings, represent the full scope of his oeuvre from a uniquely personal perspective. Many of these—portraits of friends and family members and remembered

Three essays examine the artist's creative life, from the aesthetic environment in which Botero developed his unique style to his catalyzing influence on the Colombian art world of the 1960s and 70s.

So What

Historical Dictionary of Hong Kong Cinema

In the 1960s, post-colonial Libya fell prey to the sprawling industrial greed of the West, driven by the discovery of oil.

While the modern quarter of Tripoli, built by the Italians, was small and affluent, the rest of the city--like the rest of the nation--was left to fend for itself amid the arid, sandy stretches of North Africa. As tensions mounted between eastern and western ideals, terror began to supplant justice, and acts of religiously motivated violence began to fill some of Tripoli's darkest corners. Against this backdrop, the teenaged Michele Balistreri--a smart young man plagued by thuggish tendencies and a youthful attraction to Fascism--suffered a succession of personal blows that would scar him for life: the death of his mother; a terrible tragedy that befell his best friend's family; and the consequences of his father's role in Gaddafi's rise to power. Worst of all, an innocent blood pact he made as a teenager would come to haunt him as an adult. Four decades later, journalist Linda Nardi is hard at work investigating the shadowy history of the Vatican Bank's involvement in Libya when she suddenly finds her attention diverted to an irresistible story assignment: covering the collapse of Colonel Gaddafi's forty-two year dictatorship. It is only a matter of time before Nardi's research and Balistreri's

This selection from Botero's own collection provides a panorama of the artist's personal favourites from his considerable oeuvre. "Botero: Celebrate Life!" will exhibit almost a hundred paintings, sketches and pastels as well as a few sculptures, including the enormous eye-catcher 'Caballo,' Botero's famous sculpture of a horse. 'Botero: Celebrate Life!' shows how Fernando Botero creates a magical world full of characters and scenes from daily life, of which politics and religion form an important part.

Although his work appears at first sight to be airy and light-hearted, the violent history of his native country Colombia can be felt. His origin and background have influenced Botero profoundly, which finds expression directly in his works of the president, executions and weeping widows, and indirectly in his paintings of people partying, dancing with expressionless faces under the light of naked light bulbs.
